

Korea Conflict Costs U.S. Near 102 Billion

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has spent about $101,740,000,000 in the past three years on rearmament and the Korean War, the Defense Department estimated today.

During that time, Congress has granted the military about $155,379,000,000 in new obligatory authority—the right to contract for material and service.

With the help of the $101,740,000,000 expenditure, the Defense Department has formed a force of about 3½ million men, started re-equipping and expanding the number of weapons for the Air Force, Army and Navy and fought the Korean War. This expenditure does not include money used by the Atomic Energy Commission for atomic bombs.

In a similar three-year period of World War II (the fiscal years 1942-44, inclusive) expenditures were $162,767,000,000. In that time, the strength of the armed forces increased to about 11 millions. The war was being fought on fronts in Europe and the Pacific.

One thing demonstrated here is that the price of war, like costs for everything else, rose sharply over a decade. Everything, from the cost of a bomber to the salary of a soldier, is higher.

To supply the munitions and other materials and services going into the over-all national defense program, which includes items in addition to those procured only for the Army, Navy and Air Force, about 15 per cent of the gross national product is required now. For the armed forces, the figure is estimated by the Defense Department at 12 per cent.

At the peak of World War II, the military "take" of the national product was about 45 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to stay the executions of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The court also refused for the fourth time to review the trial of the condemned husband and wife whose case has attracted world-wide attention.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pleadings for the lives of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, condemned to die as atom spies Thursday, fought last-ditch battles today at the White House and the Supreme Court.

The street in front of the White House Sunday night teemed with thousands of placard-bearing demonstrators, including the Rosenbergs' brown-eyed sons, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, who brought another to President Eisenhower.

High Court Rules

The Supreme Court, which has refused three times to review the case, was scheduled to rule today on an appeal filed Saturday to stay the Rosenbergs' execution set for three days hence.

The court's session was expected to be its last before it returns from summer recess Oct. 5.

If it should grant a stay of execution and agree to review the case, the lives of the husband and wife would be spared at least until a final decision next fall or winter.

If not, they must die in Sing Sing.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, speaking out against "the book burners," declared Sunday that Americans must fight communism "with something better, not try to conceal the thinking of our own people."

Eisenhower named no names, but his statement recalled the demand by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) acceded to by the State Department, that the government withdraw from its overseas libraries books by authors who are known Communists or fellow travelers.

The President said even those with whose views we disagree have a right to have their views on record in public places—"or it is not America."

Think Out Loud

"Don't join the book burners," he told the graduating class at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N. H. "Don't think you are going to swerve something by concealing evidence that it ever existed, don't be afraid to go to the library and read every book, so long as that document does not offend our own ideas of decency."

"How will we defeat communism, unless we know what it is, and why it has such an appeal for men? Why are so many people swearing allegiance to it? It is almost a religion—albeit in the name of the nether regions. We have got to fight it with something better, not try to conceal the thinking of our own people."

This was the first of two short talks the President made Sunday in the whirlwind finish to a five-day speaking tour which took him into five states. He also flew over serious storm damage in Michigan and Massachusetts and pledged federal aid and money to ward reconstructions.

Tribute To Teddy

From New Hampshire, the President flew to Oyster Bay, N. Y., about 30 miles east of New York City, and dedicated the summer home of Theodore Roosevelt as a national shrine. He shared the platform with former President Herbert Hoover and New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Eisenhower said there is a tendency to over-dramatize the former Rough Rider, and he added: "The fact is he was a wise leader. He was not a swashbuckler; he was not a bull in a china shop... He was a man who understood his fellow human beings..."

About 8,000 persons heard the President, in front of Sagamore Hill, the Roosevelt summer White House, at the opening of week-long ceremonies.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) predicted today that if taxes are not cut this year, the Democrats will win back control of Congress in 1954.

Taking direct issue with President Eisenhower, Reed said a promise to cut taxes "was one of the main pledges made during the campaign" by GOP members of Congress "and the President too." Eisenhower has said he never promised to reduce taxes right away.

"You'd be surprised the way the people resent the failure to keep that pledge," Reed said in a copy-righted interview published today by the magazine U. S. News and World Report. "If the people don't get this tax reduction now, you will have a Democratic Congress next time."

Reed, in a position as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee to influence taxes more than any other man in Congress, has been talking at two major provisions of Eisenhower's tax program:

1. A request that the excess profits tax on business, due to expire at the end of this month, be extended for six months to bring in an estimated 800 million dollars toward balancing the budget. Reed wants the tax to expire on schedule.

2. A request that a 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes be permitted to take effect next Jan. 1, as scheduled under present law. Reed wants to advance it to July 1.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass.) said over the week end he knows a majority of the 15 Republicans on Reed's committee "are ready to bring... to the House floor" an extension of the excess profits tax. But Reed said that "except for possibly three members" the Republicans on his group want the tax to expire.

Crashes Injure 2 Race Drivers

Two drivers were injured, neither seriously, in the third heat of stock car races Saturday night at the U. P. State Fair grounds in Escanaba. Both accidents occurred at the west end of the quarter-mile track.

Leon Fraker, Iron Mountain, received face cuts from glass in the windshield and a bruised right shoulder. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital for treatment and examination and today was transferred to Veterans' Hospital at Iron Mountain.

Fraker's car was bumped when the cars bunched at the west end of the track. Observers said Fraker rolled five or six times.

John Hupy of Powers was knocked unconscious when his car hit the unlucky west end turn two laps later in the same race and rolled off the track. He recovered after receiving first aid treatment.

The drivers are strapped in and wear crash helmets, which probably saved them from serious injury.

The feature race later in the evening was won by Hopy Mott of Norway. Top places in Saturday night's schedule of races were won by the following drivers:

Time Trials—First, Car 33, John Pieropon, Powers; 2nd, Car 116, Leon Fraker, Iron Mountain; 3rd, Car 96, John Hupy, Powers; 4th, Car 4, Ed Hermanson.

Two Youngsters Saved From Drowning Here

Edward Bergeon, 7, and his sister, Catherine, 8, were saved from drowning Saturday afternoon by prompt lifeguard action at Ludington beach.

The youngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Bergeon, 131 S. 1st Ave., were wading on a sandbar in a small lagoon at the north side of the beach island and wandered into a "drop-off." The area is not a part of the approved beach bathing area.

After other persons on the beach saw the youngsters sink in the water, a small, unidentified boy pulled them out. Artificial respiration was administered to Catherine by Paul Baldwin, lifeguard, and to Edward by Bill Fallmer, an Escanaba air corpsman home on leave. Others at the beach also assisted.

Twenty minutes were required before the youngsters began to breathe, Baldwin reports. Both children were unconscious when lifted from the water, described as cold in that section of the beach.

The children, neither of whom could swim, were afterwards brought to St. Francis Hospital by Harry Wait, Escanaba policeman who was spending his day off at the beach. They were dismissed Sunday morning and now are at home.

A sister of the two, Helen Bergeon, 10, also was at the beach and was treated for shock, suffered when she saw her brother and sister lying unconscious.

Saturday was the first day this season the Bergeon children went to the beach.

When the two children were lifted from the water, a fire department resuscitator squad was called for at 2:35, and Capt. Nels Bergeon, father of the children, responded. He did not know that the near-drowning victims were his own children until the rescuers had returned from the hospital.

Ore shipments from the C. & N. W. Escanaba docks neared the two-million mark early this morning. As of 7 a. m. today, the docks had shipped out 1,996,117 tons, less than 4,000 tons from the two-million figure.

Workers loaded 179,749 tons of ore onto boats during the past week, continuing to increase their lead over last year. This season the docks have shipped 416,134 tons more than they had by the same point last year. Last year's total for the same period was 1,579,963.

A week ago the docks were 246,243 tons ahead of the preceding year. Two weeks ago they were only 165,020 tons ahead of the same date in 1952.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said today he expects the Senate immigration subcommittee heads to approve before the week's end a bill to admit an additional 240,000 immigrants in the next two years.

Escanaba Chapter 24, Disabled American Veterans and its Auxiliary were again honored at the state convention held in Alpha June 12-14.

Chapter Commander William L. Peters was elected Department Vice Commander and the Auxiliary received a citation for its radio report and an honorable mention in membership. These reports are judged on a percentage basis allowing the smaller units an equal chance to be recognized.

The welcome was extended by Alpena's mayor. He was born in Elk Rapids, Mich., on April 25, 1872. Mr. Briggs was a mason and followed that trade until recent years when he was employed in farming.

Season Here For Racketeers

IRONWOOD—It's summer and it's also open season for professional shoplifters, swindlers, confidence men, bad check writers, and other racketeers.

One team of professional thieves, two men and two women, visited Ashland recently and before they departed had helped themselves to about $100 from the unlocked safe of a store.

It was the same quartet, it is believed, which walked into an Ironwood store Friday afternoon and got away with the woman proprietor's billfold and a sum of money.

The method of operation, apparently, is for the quartet to enter a store and then separate at once, the women remaining at the front and engaging the clerk or clerks in conversation while the men wander around the rear of the store.

If accosted, the men breezily explain that they are just "shopping around," and that the women do the buying. With the women distracting the clerks, the men quickly discover where loot in the form of cash or other valuables may be obtained.

Flint Gets $125,000 Government Relief For Storm Victims

FLINT (P)—Victims of the howling tornado that careened recklessly over northern Flint just a week ago tonight will get help from a $125,000 allocation from President Eisenhower's disaster relief fund. The allocation was announced Sunday following the President's Saturday plane ride over Flint for a personal view of the devastation.

Presidential press aide Murray Snider said "the door isn't closed by any means to additional allocations."

Eisenhower also earmarked $500,000 for tornado relief in Massachusetts and $100,000 for Iowa, hit by both storms and floods. This city's death toll rose to 114 late Saturday when workers cleaning up the rubble left by the tornado came upon the body of 13-month-old Diane Shreve, blown right out of her mother's arms by the great wind.

The baby girl, last known missing person following the storm, was identified by an aunt. Diane's mother, Mrs. Margaret Shreve, has been hospitalized since the tornado with critical injuries.

Just after flying at an altitude of less than 1,000 over Flint's hard-hit Beecher district, President Eisenhower dictated a message to the community.

The message, sent from the presidential plane, Columbine, to the mayor of Flint said:

"Even a fleeting look at the destroyed section of your city, such as we were able to obtain as we flew over it today, clearly shows the destructive force of a tornado and the extent of the disaster suffered by many of your citizens. My sympathies and best wishes go to each of these families."

4-H Demonstration School Here Tuesday

There will be a 4-H demonstration school Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the 4-H Cafeteria at the Fair Grounds. Fred Bernhardt, county 4-H agent, and Ingrid Teronen, county home demonstration agent, will conduct the school, which is for all 4-H members in Delta County.

The two leaders will help those who are now working on demonstrations, and will also help those who want to get started on such work.

A demonstration, Bernhardt said, consists of a 4-H member demonstrating how to do something he learned in a project. In effect, he teaches what he knows.

The 4-H agent said those with the best demonstrations will take them to the 4-H summer camp, Camp Shaw at Chatham, later this summer. Winners in competition at Camp Shaw will go on to statewide competition.

Car Badly Damaged In US-2 Collision

Jane Rose Thompson, Sarnia, Canada, who was driving along US-2 near Rapid River at 1:50 Sunday afternoon, had reached the point where County Road C-19 intersects the highway when Matt Major, 107 4th St., Gladstone, who had been parked on the shoulder also heading west, pulled out onto the highway and struck her car in the side, Michigan State Police said.

The Canadian woman lost control of her car which careened off US-2 into a tree and was damaged extensively.

No one was injured. Troopers said Major, damage to whose vehicle was negligible, was ticketed for making an improper left turn and for having no driver's license.

Santa Fe Convicts Riot; Nine Guards And Warden Seized

SANTA FE, N. M. (P)—Armed with meat cleavers and knives, rioting convicts at the New Mexico Penitentiary today seized Deputy Warden Ralph Tahash and nine guards as hostages.

Warden Morris Abram said the convicts, in a note addressed to him, demanded that Tahash and six prison guards be fired.

Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, who arrived at the prison soon after Abram announced the riot under way about 10 a. m. CST, said he was told Homer Lee Cossett, notorious for "Houdini" escape attempts, was a leader of the uprising.

The 69-year-old stone walled prison last was the scene of a riot less than seven months ago when 15 convicts seized eight guards at knife point in a demand that they be allowed to escape. That riot was quelled after 20 hours.

State Police Chief Joe Roach called on all available state police officers today to reinforce the prison guard force.

Escanaba Beach Opens For Season, It's The Safest Place To Swim

THE Escanaba Municipal Beach officially opens today and is being staffed by a full corps of trained lifeguards for the summer season. For fun and safety's sake, the guarded beach is the proper place for youngsters to swim.

The City Recreation Department has requested that parents accompany children under 7 to the beach and that the parents assume the responsibility of watching their little children in the water.

Unfortunately many parents fail to recognize the hazards of sending little tots to the beach and leaving them unattended. It is so easy for a child to slip in the water and drown, even in shallow water. With hundreds of persons in the water, it is impossible for a few lifeguards to keep their eyes constantly on the little children.

Encourage your youngsters to learn to swim. The instructors at the beach have an annual program of swimming classes for beginners, for those with some experience and finally for those who desire to take the Red Cross senior life saving course.

A child of 7 to 12 years can learn to swim within a comparatively short period of time, even in a large class. And once a child has learned to swim, his danger of drowning has greatly been minimized.

The safety record at the Escanaba beach is noteworthy. There has not been a drowning at the local beach during the period in which lifeguards are on duty for many, many years. It is important, however, that parents encourage their children to observe the bathing hours when guards are on duty. That is from 10 a. m. to 8:30 p. m., with no swimming permitted during lunch hours from 12 to 1 and from 5 to 6.

We believe that the recreation department should have opened the beach earlier this year because of the warm weather and because of popular demand. When the bathing season arrives, youngsters will go in swimming, no matter what the official regulations are for opening the season. Fortunately there were no accidents during the pre-season bathing.

New Format Is Not An Improvement

THE Michigan Journalist, an experimental laboratory newspaper of the Department of Journalism, University of Michigan, was produced last week in an experimental format. The paper's editorial board called it "a new kind of newspaper."

The pages are joined by staples horizontally at the fold. Both of the vertical sides of the paper are open. The reader moves from page one to page two and consecutively to other pages by turning down the top half of the paper. Inside pages thus are actually half size and page two is located where page three would be in a conventional newspaper.

The format was devised by Dr. Herman Brandt who contends that it creates more comfortable reading.

Perhaps it is because of its radical departure from the conventional that we find the U-M's experimental format objectionable but we are quite certain that it will never become popular with the reading public.

The paper's format has some of the advantages of a tabloid-size newspaper, while attempting to retain the appearance of a full-size paper. It solves no real problems of cumbersome handling of newspapers by the readers but it creates additional problems in production of the paper. The stapling process, for instance, would pose a real headache for high speed presses. Conceding that this problem could be met by modern engineering techniques, it would not be a warranted expense because of the lack of public acceptance of the proposed format.

As a matter of real truth, the size and format of today's conventional newspaper meets ready public acceptance except by those people who do their reading of newspapers while commuting on trains or buses. The tabloid-size paper solves the problem for those readers and, of course, they constitute a very small percentage of America's newspaper subscribers.

For papers like the Escanaba Press, the commuters offer no problem at all because there are no commuters.

We commend the Michigan Journalist for its bold efforts at experimentation, but we cannot agree that the new format will get any cheers from the readers.

Other Editorial Comments

TOO SUCCESSFUL (Christian Science Monitor)

Effects of congressional economy on the Voice of America program have reached rather extreme lengths. Notwithstanding the Communist menace in southeast Asia, broadcasts in the Malay language were discontinued. Then programs in Spanish and Portuguese which enjoyed a following in Latin America had to be sacrificed.

However, one such cut is in abeyance. Billy Brown, a high school senior of Yorktown Heights, New York, has been describing everyday life in his town, and listeners from Scotland to Pakistan were "lapping it up." But it took over $400 a month to answer the fan mail; so unless funds can be found, Billy faces being put off the air for being too popular. Local Rotary clubs are trying to keep the program going.

There is an old story about a country storekeeper who valued his leisure. A salesman sold him an order of a new brand of canned corn, and after a couple of trips noticed that each time the item was all gone.

"I suppose you'll want some more of that canned corn?" he remarked brightly. "Now," said the storekeeper with a trace of annoyance. "People asked for that stuff so much I couldn't keep it on my shelves." "Pen pals" in 35 countries evidently did not think of Billy Brown's casual and friendly program as "canned corn." Some of the other programs dropped to save dollars may also represent lost opportunities.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—London's most important event, next to the coronation of Queen Elizabeth, took place with the public bared—the meeting of commonwealth ministers with Prime Minister Churchill. However, it was almost as helpful as the coronation in bringing British unity.

Churchill discussed the affairs of the far-flung empire and handled the dominion prime ministers like a skilled musician leading an orchestra.

Prime Minister Nehru of India, who in a private conversation with Churchill had staged a bitter argument urging that Premier Malenkov be invited to the Bermuda conference, on this occasion was amenable. He advised Churchill to invite Eisenhower to join in a later meeting with Malenkov, but urged that, if Eisenhower declined, then Churchill should meet with Malenkov anyway.

Prime Minister Malan of South Africa was the most free with his advice, though perhaps not the most judicious. He advised Churchill to arm West Germany, then let West Germany take over East Germany, thereby setting up Germany as a buffer state against Russia. The only countries worth bothering about as allies, the South African premier advised, were the United States, Spain and Germany.

SECRET SOVIET TALKS

Prime Minister Churchill revealed that Soviet Ambassador Malik in London had come to see him with the message that Malenkov would be perfectly willing to meet him outside Russia, and suggested that Scandinavia would be a perfect meeting place during the summer months. Ambassador Malik also suggested that the Bermuda conference draw up no hard and fast commitments for the subsequent Big Four conference. Obviously he did not want Malenkov to face a united western front.

Churchill gave quite a pessimistic report to the commonwealth ministers on the European Defense Pact, and indicated it would not be ratified. Of course Churchill has not been for a united European army of late anyway.

However, Churchill was more optimistic regarding the desire of Russia to get along with the rest of the world. He told how the Chinese Red invasion of Laos in Indochina had started without Moscow's knowledge. Following this, he said he had got in touch with Moscow and was able to get the Kremlin to withdraw Chinese Communist troops.

The British prime minister contrasted this with the tactics of Secretary of State Dulles who made a public statement regarding the Indo-Chinese crisis and proposed bringing it before the United Nations.

Churchill also reported that Moscow had been flirting with the Turkish foreign minister in an effort to undercut the United States in that area. The Kremlin had indicated to Turkey that the Dardanelles was no longer a serious issue between them and even went so far as to make overtures toward a favorable settlement of disputes along the Turkish-Russian border. In return, Moscow wanted Turkey to slow down on her arms program and stop furnishing bases to the United States.

The British prime minister added, however, that he didn't think Turkey would fall for the Soviet overtures.

REVISED TAFT-HARTLEY

For a long time Sherman Adams and other White House advisers have been telling the President that he will never placate American labor until a "new face" other than that of Sen. Bob Taft takes charge of the administration's labor program in congress.

The man best qualified for the job, Ike's advisers have insisted, is brainy, popular GOP Congressman Samuel McConnell of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house labor committee. A Republican liberal, McConnell gets along with both the AFL and CIO, is much more acceptable than Taft to Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin.

Last week Eisenhower finally acted on this advice of quietly calling in McConnell and handing him the ball. In a meeting so secret that McConnell left by the back door at the White House to avoid a drumfire of reporters' questions, the Pennsylvanian was given a double assignment.

First, he was instructed to begin missionary talks with labor and business leaders in an effort to iron out areas of disagreement in the Taft-Hartley Act. Secondly, McConnell was delegated to draft legislation on labor-management relations that both sides can live with, but primarily in the public interest.

Ike thus made it plain that he wanted McConnell's name on the legislation. But it wasn't determined whether the bill finally drafted would provide a complete new program of labor relations to supplant the Taft-Hartley Law, or simply revise and amend unworkable sections of the Taft-Hartley Law. Ike left this up to McConnell.

Enough to Make Strong Men Weep

Tito's Case History:

Run-Down Yugoslavia Becomes The Country Of 'Never Mind'

IN YUGOSLAV TOWN SQUARE, farmers buy and sell wine under new rules of free economy. But years of Communist operation have etched atmosphere of land of "never mind" into this scene.

By FRED SPARKS NEA Staff Correspondent

BELGRADE (NEA)—In this Communist town people say: "There is no deposit on the bottle."

Nobody cares if you return it or sling it at a yawling cat. The State owns the store—and everything else. It's the land of "never mind."

Walk on the furniture in your hotel with spiked boots and the manager will shrug and say: "Never mind." Insult a customer and your boss will yawn: "Never mind."

Here is the payoff for eliminating private property and destroying the dignity of labor by giving it an impersonal serial number and tying it to a political machine.

In the biggest reversal since Dempsey got off the deck to lick Firpo, Tito's tyranny has issued a series of vague proclamations turning Yugoslavia right toward a freer economy.

It's still too early to tell whether these are more than campaign promises. But there's no doubt that the wails of woe are accurate. Yugoslavia has been plain running down.

Take this confession by Edward Kardelj, one of Tito's five top junior dictators: "It does happen that often the director or administrative committee responsible permit an incorrect use, and even pillage, of general publicly owned property."

Also Kardelj, speaking this time about labor: "Under such (the new) conditions our workers will learn to think as producers, as masters in this country and not as hired workers (hired today by the State)."

The government also admits that the present payroll, which rates highly skilled workers little better than ditch diggers, is mad.

For example, I know a photographer, trained in England, who drives a truck.

"If I work at my trade, which is short of help," he said, "I might be on the job six days a week, nine hours a day. I'd make maybe 13,000 dinars (slightly over $40) a month. I get 12,000 dinars for pushing this truck and an easy 30-40 hour week. Why sweat?"

The great Bolshevik brains in Belgrade (who never managed anything but revolutions) are junking their system of "production planning" which told a plant exactly how much to produce in a year. One year — on such a guess-work assignment — the country was flooded with bedroom slippers, but desperately short of working shoes.

Now, sounding like Harvard Business School, Tito's financial whizzes say: "We'll have to let the public, by their purchases, decide how much we make."

Now, swears the government, monopolies will be divided and several outfits, operated by "workers' councils," will make identical items and compete in quality and price.

Advertising, long as dead as freedom in Yugoslavia, will come back and soon gorgeous gals will flash white ivories as they urge you to buy "KARL MARX SWEET KISSABLE BREATH TOOTH PASTE."

Slowly, bureaucracy is becoming the same word in Belgrade as in Washington. Every industry groans under acres of useless party pay-rollees shuffling listless papers.

These executives won their posts by getting "As" in Communist knowledge, not on the assembly line. Tito (if he's sincere) will have plenty of old pals to purge. I know a machine tool shop where the director (elected by the CP), used to be a minor file clerk.

The former chief is now unemployed, and each month he sells another piece of furniture or art treasure for food.

When Tito captured Yugoslavia he scratched, as "reactionary," all business talent as well as ownership. How to bring fellows with "know how" back to life?

Suppose Sam Goldwyn were not allowed to shoot a movie unless a politician from the ruling party OK'd the script, picked the star-lets, checked the cameras? You'd get the boring type flickers now made in Belgrade. That's what happens when party know-nothings meddle.

"NEVER MIND" attitude doesn't extend to church-goers, like this peasant woman with Bible, who give thanks to God for stopping socialistic planners.

But the story of Yugoslavia's reform is not only today's "Confession Hour" but what will happen tomorrow.

And how will Russian satellites, in an identical economic mess, react to the weird acrobatics here in which Communists prove communism can't work?

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BETTER BEWARE—Hugh Grow, Escanaba Chamber of Commerce secretary, stopped in the other day to offer me a folder from his filing cabinet. It is marked "Bulletins, general, Better Business Bureau."

The National Better Business Bureau Inc., is an organization with many local chapters dedicated to the promotion of good business ethics and for protection of the unwary against fraud and misrepresentation.

After glancing through the material supplied to the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce by the National Better Business Bureau we decided that you, the reader, will be interested in how you can protect yourself against some of the schemes guaranteed to take your money and leave you little to show for it.

Better beware, if you are in doubt, and check with your Chamber of Commerce before you invest your money in some of the get-rich-quick offers.

SPRING FEVER—If you contemplate remodeling your home or to make roofing or siding or other repairs—be careful of the person who offers to do the work under and arrangement whereby your home is to be "displayed" as a part of the repairman's sales effort to get other jobs.

Better Business Bureau investigation reveals that such deals seldom are to the benefit of the home owner. More often the price is 50 to 100 per cent higher than equivalent legitimate prices.

In most instances the workmanship is inferior and the materials shoddy.

The finished job is seldom displayed and you are the victim of spring fever and a fast-talking repairman. The BBB advises that you watch these points in ordering repair work:

Know your contractor; get a written estimate; read and understand the terms and financial arrangements; read and keep a copy of the contract; don't sign a completion certificate or pay the final cash until the job is properly done.

WORKING THE HOMEWORKER—Elderly persons, the handicapped, widows and housewives eager to add to their income are the victims of another—well, let's call it a promotion business.

Through ads in newspapers and magazines these people are encouraged to write to a certain address in a far away city. They are offered opportunities to "make money at home."

In response to their letter the victims of the homework scheme receive a request to send anywhere from $1 to $5 for "instructions."

The "instructions" usually consist of several mimeographed pages telling the individual how to set himself up in business selling booties or addressing envelopes or making bow ties for men.

None of these "earn money at home" offers really provide employment or bring to the individual one cent. Rather they take money in small amounts from persons who can least afford to lose it.

MOVING ALONG—The Better Business Bureau also warns of the individual who comes quietly into town on a selling trip and moves on again before the buyers discover they have been victimized.

This slippery customer will sell you anything from a magazine subscription to an encyclopedia and accept a "down payment." He issues you an impressive receipt. That is all you ever do receive.

Before you can say Jack Robinson or Better Business Bureau he is on his way to another town, where he has something else for sale—garden seeds or a special bulb flown all the way from Tibet.

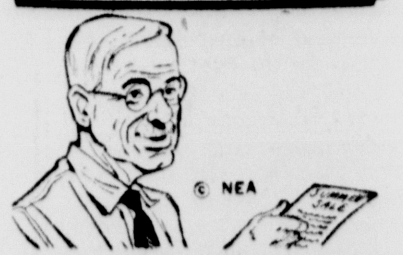

The itinerant photographer is another chap who makes a quick tour through the city and is gone before the prints arrive. Sometimes the pictures never do come and inquiries to the address shown on "deposit" slip reveal no company by that name in that city.

All of this Better Business Bureau information is presented for one purpose only: Better beware before you buy from someone whose reputation you do not know.

Some of these transients may be reliable, but there is a dishonest minority that calls for caution in dealing with all of them.

We don't hear about golden weddings as often as divorces because there's no scandal to them.

The Doctor Says... Consult Nerve Specialist About Rare Form Of Aphasia

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Difficulty with or inability to speak, write, or to understand speech or written language goes under the name of aphasia. This sort of thing is fortunately rather rare, and there are several different kinds.

Q—When a person loses his speech temporarily, is this a physical ailment or psychiatric disorder? I cannot pronounce the words I want to, though I can spell them. I had to resign my position because I couldn't talk.

Mrs. A.

A—This is an unusual kind of aphasia. It sounds as though it could certainly come from some physical cause, and a thorough examination by a nerve specialist as soon as possible would certainly be desirable.

Q—For the past three years I have been slowly losing my hearing. I have been to two doctors and both have suggested an operation which they say will restore my hearing to normal. Can you tell me anything of this operation?

Reader.

A—This probably refers to what is known as the "fenestration" operation. This is an extremely delicate operation involving making a kind of window in the inner portion of the ear. Many surgeons who have had experience with the operation achieve a high proportion of good results, though it cannot be said to be always successful.

Q—Would diet or exercise reduce heavy ankles?

A—Diet might reduce the angles in proportion to that reduction in weight brought about by loss of fat in other parts of the body. Exercise probably would be of no avail.

Q—I have read that there is a special diet for gaining weight in the breasts. Can you tell me what this is?

Miss B.

A—There is no special diet for this purpose.

Gov. Williams Runs Up Big Telegraph Bill On Advice To Washington

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—It might be cheaper to elect Gov. Williams U. S. senator than pay the bills for his telegrams of advice to Republican congressmen in Washington.

For months now, the messenger boys have been trotting up to the capitol several times a week to get the governor's little telegraphed lectures for our men in the nation's capitol—especially U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson.

One would almost think that Williams has a feeling that Ferguson isn't quite up to his job; that maybe if he doesn't function a little better he ought to be replaced. With Williams, perhaps?

Now, of course, the governor of a great commonwealth like Michigan is entitled to speak his mind to the state's congressional delegation.

Pestering Homer

But, of course, Williams is too bright a boy not to know that the Republican-dominated congressional delegation isn't going to pay any attention to what Williams, a Democrat, wants or doesn't want. But still he keeps feeding the mail box and telegraph wires. And, strangely, copies of his telegrams and letters hit the capitol press room hours before they hit Washington.

The governor's approach is standard. He notes that the something or other bill No. so-and-so, just in case Ferguson never heard of it is now before a certain committee. The governor realizes, he says, that Senator Ferguson is not on that committee. But he assumes that Ferguson has great weight in Washington. And he recites that all sorts of dire things will happen if that bill doesn't pass.

Now, Homer, says Soapy, get in there and pitch. Our eyes are on you, says Soapy—at least mine are and if the newspapers print their copies of this letter everybody's eyes are on you. You wouldn't want to let Michigan down, would you, Homer? he asks.

Keeping In Trim

Sometimes the governor gives the boys a stern lecture on the St. Lawrence Seaway. He seems to think he originated the idea.

For a while, he fussed about beds for hospitalized war veterans. Now he's got the itch about federal aid funds for local hospitals.

Of course, all these are kind of touchy subjects to bring up with the good grey Senator Ferguson.

Ferguson, you see has been quite a champion of economy in Washington. He wants to cut the budget. And every time a budget-cutting bill comes up, the governor starts shouting: "Now, look here, Homer, do you know what that would do to us back here in Michigan?"

One might ask why Williams doesn't write, instead, to some of the powerful Democratic senators from the South with whom he became such good friends at the National Convention.

Could it be that Williams wants to put Ferguson on the spot?

Of course, the governor is known to want a U. S. Senatorial post. After all, you can't be governor always.

He obviously is keeping himself in position to go either way in 1954—a run against Ferguson or a fourth term as governor.

Gambling Pays Off

DETROIT (AP)—The government's gambling tax is paying off more from Detroit than it did last year. Income so far this year has been $60,448 as compared to $31,990 for the same period last year, the Internal Revenue Office reported.

In recent years, Sweden's shipyards have often accounted for 1/10 of the world's new ship tonnage.

Unions Sign Pact In AFL And CIO

DETROIT (AP)—An unprecedented peace pact hailed as a step toward "the ultimate achievement of a united labor movement" has been reached between two major unions of the CIO and AFL.

The agreement joins the forces of the CIO-United Auto Workers and the AFL International Association of Machinists which claim a combined membership of more than 2,000,000.

It both strengthens the four-year-old "no raiding" pledge between the two unions and goes so far as to provide for joint negotiations in some instances.

The pact creates a joint committee of three members from each union to coordinate collective bargaining and relationships in the aircraft industry.

Similar subcommittees will be set up in other industries where both unions have a substantial number of members.

The agreement also provides for cooperative action in the event of a strike by one union against an employer recognizing both unions.

Such action calls for respecting picket lines, undertaking joint

Kaye Sadly Admits 2-A-Day Vaudeville Can Not Come Back

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can the old two-a-day vaudeville come back? "I'm afraid not," is the sad reply of its leading practitioner of modern times, Danny Kaye. The brick-haired comic has played his vaudeville show to sell-out audiences at New York's Palace, the London Palladium, the Curran in San Francisco and other noted theaters.

His example has stirred hopes that bigtime vaude might again rise to the glory which it held in the first three decades of this century. Every sizable U. S. city had at least one vaude house and sometimes more. Those days will not return, says Kaye.

"There aren't enough situations for an actor to appear 50 weeks out of the year, as in the old days," he remarked. "You can only play a vaudeville show in certain big cities."

Not Enough Acts

"Besides, there aren't enough acts to go around. The only ones who have tried to do vaudeville on the old scale are myself, Judy Garland, Jack Benny and Betty Hutton. That isn't enough to keep a circuit going."

Despite his pessimistic outlook, he was enthusiastic about vaudeville for those who can do it.

"It's the greatest business in the world," he gloved. "It's even better than the old two-a-day. You don't have to do two shows a day—only matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Otherwise you only do one show a night."

His "one show" is a rigorous workout, however. Kaye stays on stage for an hour and 40 minutes of dancing, singing, telling jokes and generally cutting up. But, as anyone who has caught his act will testify, he certainly enjoys his work. He evokes the warm response from an audience which economic action against the employer when possible and agreeing to no settlement which would in any way undermine or weaken the position of the striking union.

performers in the more mechanical mediums seldom experience.

Show In Suitcase

It's not only fun, but profitable. Amazingly so, as Kaye admits. "Take a show like 'Oklahoma!'" he observed. "It represents an investment of perhaps $250,000 to $300,000. It has a cast of perhaps 40 to 50 people and carloads of scenery and costumes. It can play a theater in San Francisco and make $45,000 a week, which is good business."

"Then I play the same house. I carry my whole show in one small suitcase. I take along five vaudeville acts and no scenery. This show can draw $50,000 for the week."

Kaye has earned such fantastic figures wherever he plays. So it's no wonder that he has shifted off the other entertainment mediums to concentrate on vaudeville. He is currently making one of his infrequent movies, called "Knock On Wood." He plays a ventriloquist in the film, which is being made independently with those triple threat men, Norman Panama and Melvin Frank. Kaye and the two writer-producers-directors are using Paramount's financing and facilities and will share in the profits.

Connecticut Speed Law Nation's First?

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—State Motor Vehicle Department records indicate that Connecticut passed its first automobile speed limit law in 1901. Officials here think it was the first in the United States. It limited speeds within cities to 12 miles per hour and speeds elsewhere to 15 miles per hour. Motorists were required to slow down or stop completely if nearby horses were frightened by their cars.

You'd Be Amazed at Your Savings... with Aero Willys

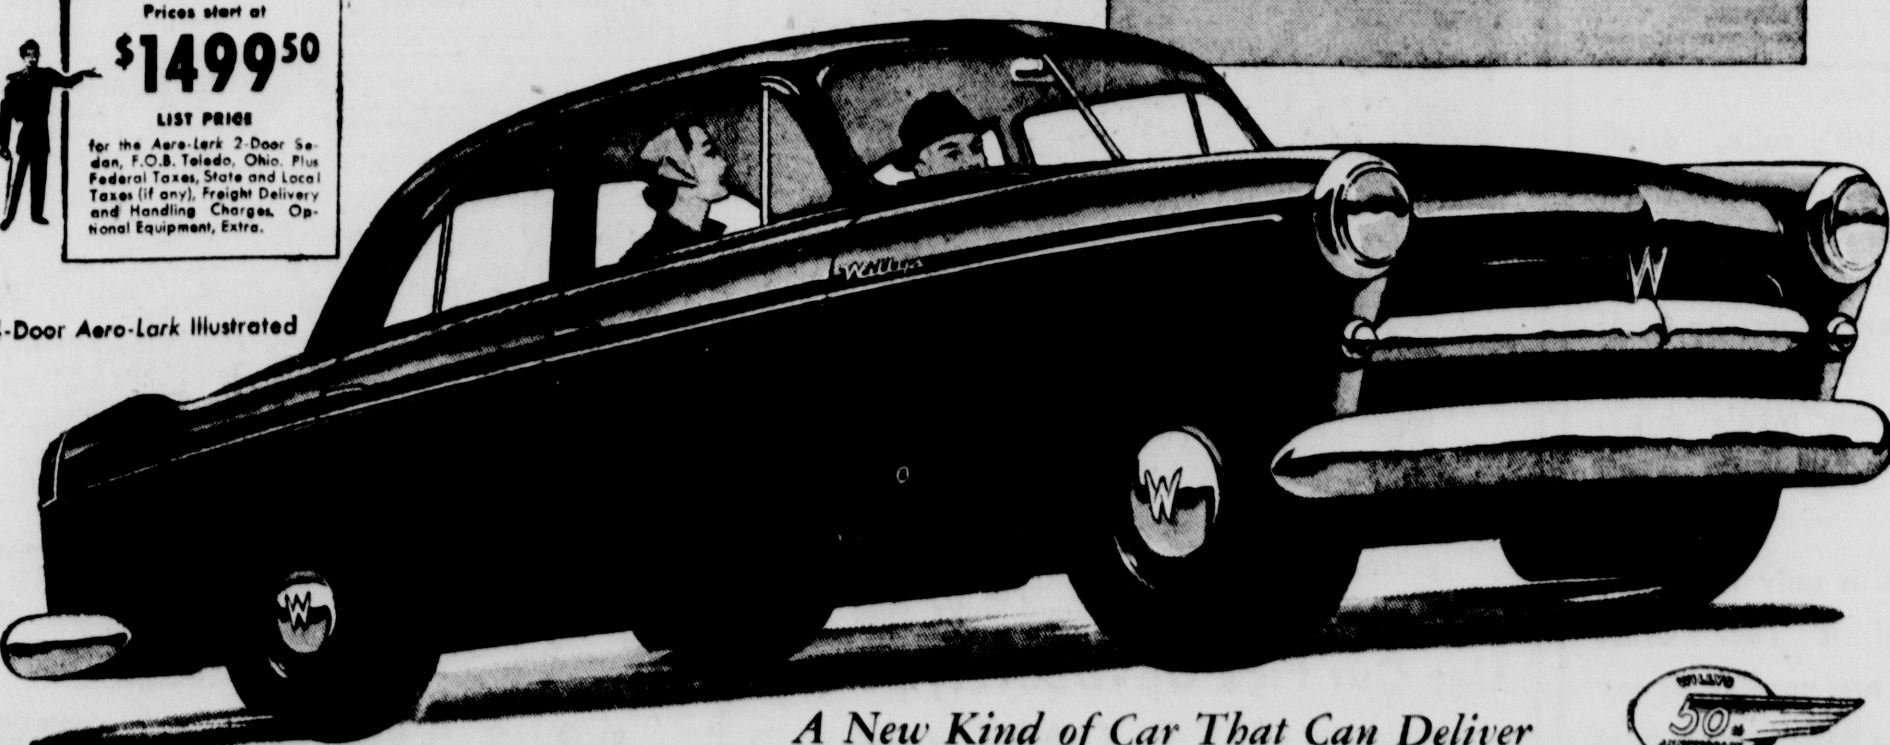

With an Aero Willys, if you average only 27 miles a gallon, for 10,000 miles you would use about 370 gallons. At 26c your gas would cost only $96.20 a year. (Reports have been received of special tests showing up to 35 miles per gallon, with overdrive.)

If you average 15 miles a gallon with your present car, and drive it 10,000 miles a year, you would use about 666 gallons of gas. Regular gas at 26c would cost you $173.16 a year.

The difference you can save on gas alone with the Aero Willys may be as much as $76.96 a year... but you also save on oil, repairs and other maintenance. In addition to economy, this low, young-looking, stylish car is extremely comfortable, has the ruggedness of the 'Jeep'... the luxury of an airliner... has been judged the safest car of the year by Motor Trend Magazine.

Queenly Walk And Artful Make-Up Show Off Gown

Traditional radiance of the bride is at least one part calculated. She rehearses many things besides the wedding ceremony—one is her make-up which she has practiced until it is perfection. She's sure her colors are right because she has tried different shades for their becomingness with a white dress. On the great day, she applies a colorless lipstick fixative (left) as the last step in her make-up. She won't need to renew her lipstick all day and it won't come off on the groom's face. The bride's hands

By ALICIA HART

On your wedding day, you'll be the center of attraction from the moment you take your father's arm to the moment you and your groom slip away from the wedding guests.

Many brides are a little nervous just before walking up the aisle, but if you've mastered all your beauty routines well in advance, you'll feel very sure of your lovely appearance.

A beautiful carriage with head held high is essential for showing off your wedding gown to the best advantage. If your balance isn't up to par, you may feel insecure in your walk while all eyes are on you. It may help you to practice these balance steps well before the wedding:

1. Take the so-called arch position—Stand with toes of right foot against arch of left foot. Place weight on left foot. Have knee of right foot relaxed and pointing inward. Now turn toes of right foot out about two inches.

2. From the arch position, take a balance step as follows: Cross the foot that's in the arch position behind the other foot. Your weight should now be evenly distributed on both feet while toes of both feet point straight ahead.

3. Now raise your body up a little on the balls of your feet and simply whirl around, in a half circle.

You'll wind up in reverse position so that you can arch with the other foot and cross and whirl again.

Practice these balance steps many times for graceful movements. If your wedding dress is to be long, wear a long skirt for some of your practice.

Know in advance exactly what make-up you'll wear. It may help to try a make-up with a white dress on to give you proper color values.

On the great day, you won't want to renew your lipstick once it's on. You won't have time for that. To be sure of having it stay on without retouching and to avoid leaving lipstick marks on the groom's and guests' faces, you can wear a colorless fixative over your lipstick.

There's one available which you brush on over any lipstick, indelible or regular. The makers claim that it lasts for hours, even through a meal.

Don't wait for your wedding day to try it for the first time, however. With any cosmetic that you intend to wear on an important occasion, it's best to know well in advance exactly how to use it and what it does for you.

The styling of your hair should also be taken care of well in advance so there'll be no stiffness.

Laura Jean Hoes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marenger, Gladstone Rt. 1, and Harry Lancour, son of Mrs. Dorina Lancour, also of Gladstone Rt. 1, spoke their marriage vows in a ceremony performed by Father Callari at Holy Family Church in Flat Rock Saturday, June 13, at 9 a. m.

Snapdragons and carnations decorated the altar for the service. Miss Joyce Wining, soloist and organist, played the procession and sang "Ave Maria" at the Offertory. "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" was the recessional.

Miss Dorothy Waeghe was maid of honor and Miss Everall Miron, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Barbara Jensen, were bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore yellow tulle and net and the bridesmaids were in identical gowns of Nile green. Bolero jackets completed their costumes. They carried snapdragons and carnations, matching their floral headbands.

Victor Lancour was his brother's best man. Wesley Hoes and John Vebrigghe were groomsmen and Clinton Marenger and Francis Lancour ushers.

The bride's mother wore a green and black bemberg sheer with a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Lancour wore a grey print bemberg and her corsage was of like flowers.

Atomic Spy Ring Exposed In 1950

(Editor's Note: Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, man and wife, are in the death house at Sing Sing Prison. Next Thursday night, unless they can win another of many stays, they will be electrocuted. The great conspiracy case that led to their downfall and the long and heated legal battle to save their lives is told in a three-part series by Arthur Everett.)

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK—On a cold winter's day three years ago last February, Scotland Yard Inspector Leonard Burt dropped his hand on the shoulder of a German-born scientist at work in Great Britain's atomic laboratory.

The scientist was Dr. Klaus Fuchs, a brilliant, balding expert who had been present at the birth of the first atomic bomb in New Mexico in 1945.

Stakes High
His arrest that Feb. 3, 1950, was the first step in cracking a treacherous international atomic spy conspiracy, that numbered among its plotters Julius Rosenberg and his tiny 100-pound wife Ethel.

Never were the stakes as high in mankind's history as in the cat and mouse drama to follow. In the background of the ensuing three years of pursuit, arrest, trial and appeal was the atom bomb.

Fuchs, now 41, confessed his part in the spy plot. He had been a Soviet agent since 1939. He was a Soviet agent when he helped American scientists produce the first A-bomb, a Soviet agent privy to the greatest military secret of all time. He now is serving 14 years in prison, the maximum under British law.

From Fuchs, the trail of conspiracy led the American FBI to Harry Gold, a mousey little Swiss-born chemist in Philadelphia. A parlor pink, dabbling in small-time espionage for years, he had hit the jackpot in 1945 when he was able to deliver to Russia the dreadfully potent secret of atomic destruction.

Serving 30 Years
Gold was arrested May 23, 1950, pleaded guilty and now is serving 30 years. He co-operated with the government and through him FBI men were able to proceed along the trail of the conspiracy.

Three weeks later came the arrest of David Greenglass, a short, wavy-haired $75-a-week machinist. He was picked up in New York. Greenglass was a wartime Army sergeant at Los Alamos, N. M., where the world's first A-bomb was produced—under the prying eye of Dr. Fuchs.

Greenglass, born 31 years ago in New York's Lower East Side of a Russian father, found himself in a tight spot. His life was at stake if he was convicted of passing atomic secrets to Russia. And his wife Ruth, the mother of his two children, was mixed up with him in the plot.

So Greenglass eventually talked. Meanwhile, the Korean War exploded on June 25, 1950, as government agents questioned and re-questioned the thick-set Greenglass.

Couple Has 2 Sons
In this supercharged atmosphere on July 17, 1950, FBI agents arrested Julius Rosenberg, the brother-in-law of Greenglass. The thin, bespectacled, mustached college graduate had married Greenglass' sister Ethel on June 18, 1939. She bore him two sons, Michael, now 10, and Robert, 6.

By Aug. 1, the government was able to report it was "getting more information every hour." That information was not coming from Rosenberg, however, as he maintained his innocence and offered no co-operation.

It was on Aug. 11 that the FBI struck again. They seized Mrs. Rosenberg in her modest $51-a-month apartment in New York's Knickerbocker Village, far downtown. A stenographer turned housewife, she, like her husband and her brother, was a product of Manhattan's tenement area. She is now 37. Rosenberg is 35.

The significance the government attached to these arrests was first revealed by Myles J. Lane, then as assistant U. S. attorney. He said at Mrs. Rosenberg's arraignment: "If the crime with which she is charged had not occurred, perhaps we would not have had the present situation in Korea."

The crime alleged was as fascinating in a cloak-and-dagger way as anything ever dreamed up in fiction. The Rosenbergs were accused of transmitting military secrets to Soviet Russia themselves and through Greenglass, who was pictured as a hero-worshiper of his brother-in-law and a pliable tool in the older man's hands.

Gold, it was alleged, picked up A-bomb secrets from Fuchs and Greenglass at Los Alamos. He identified himself to Greenglass with a torn piece of a Jello box top. It matched the other half in Greenglass' possession. Greenglass said his half was given to him for just that reason by the Rosenbergs.

Informed of these allegations, Rosenberg reportedly "laughed out loud."

Emanuel H. Bloch, a Manhattan attorney who was to devote days and months and years to Rosenberg's case, entered the picture at this point as his defense counsel and told reporters of the Jello top plot.

"He called it fantastic—something like his kids hear over television on the Lone Ranger program."

Slips Back To Russia
Bloch, 52, is a stocky Columbia University law graduate.

On Aug. 17, 1950, the government indicted Anatoli Yakovlev, former Russian vice consul in New York. But it was like indicting a shadow. He had slipped back to Russia in 1946 and there was no way the government could lay hands on him.

Yakovlev was depicted as the sinister link, holding together such diversified plotters as the urbane Fuchs, the rabbit Gold, the putty-like Greenglass and the bold, snickering Rosenbergs.

The government said Yakovlev provided the $300 which Greenglass admitted accepting as the price of his treachery.

On Aug. 18, 1950, the government arrested the last of the star players in this macabre betrayal. He was Morton Sobell, 36, who had fled to Mexico before the Rosenbergs were arrested. But he was deported and American agents were waiting for him at the border town of Laredo, Tex.

Navy Radar Expert
Sobell, an electrical engineer, had served the Navy as a wartime radar expert. A native New Yorker, his parents came from Russia. He and Rosenberg were classmates at the City College of New York. He had a wife and two small children. A man who worked with him classified him as "a genius type."

Sobell, it was charged, took part with the Rosenbergs in the plot to pervert Greenglass and to furnish secrets to Soviet Russia. The Rosenbergs and Sobell pleaded innocent to the conspiracy charges.

But on Oct. 18, 1950, David Greenglass, with bowed head, pleaded guilty and prepared for the difficult role that doomed his sister and her husband. By so doing, Greenglass possibly saved his own life.

All four—the Rosenbergs, Sobell and Greenglass—were charged under a 1917 statute with "conspiring in time of war to transmit to the Soviet Union information concerning the national defense of this country."

Innocence Claimed
The conspiracy was said to have extended from June 6, 1944, to June 16, 1950—which included the tag end of World War II, when Russia was an ally in the fight against Germany. Nevertheless, such a conspiracy in time of war, even in behalf of an ally, carried a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison or death. In time of peace, the maximum penalty was 20 years.

Ruth Greenglass, 29, was named not a defendant but a co-conspirator, the government counting on her co-operation and that of her husband at the trial. Also a co-conspirator was Harry Gold, who in December, 1950, was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Thus began the grimly historic case the Communist party later was to label an American Dreyfus case.

The reference was to Alfred Dreyfus, a French officer convicted as a traitor in the past century and sent to Devil's Island. Dreyfus cleared his name eventually and was restored to duty.

Much of the evidence against the Rosenbergs was circumstantial. They have maintained their innocence throughout.

All the best humor writers in the country have pooled their talents and the result is TODAY'S CHUCKLE, appearing daily in the Escanaba Daily Press!

Check On Check Is Needed—N. O. Good

WELLINGTON, Kan. (P)—Auto dealer Herb Etter, in a hurry to start a business trip, raised no questions when a customer who identified himself as Norman Good of Blackwell, Okla., proposed to write a $1,775 check for a car he had just bought.

A month later, the check drawn on Blackwell bank bounced sky-high. Etter looked at the signature, conceded bleakly he'd fallen for an old one. The signature, was "No O. Good."

Pay more? What for?

Fifty Years Forward on the American Road

You don't have to pay costly-car prices for costly-car comforts.

Ford brings you everything [and we mean everything] you've ever wanted in a car, at a price that's well within your reach! And according to recent surveys, a Ford returns more of its original cost when sold than any other car at any price!

Here are a few of the "Worth More" advantages you'll find in the '53 Ford:

1. A V-8 engine—powerful and smooth!
Ford's famous high-compression V-8 is a leader in quiet, flexible, economical performance. Ford, remember, has built more V-8's than all other makers combined—over 13 million!

2. America's most economical Six engine!
If it's a Six you want, Ford offers you the high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker . . . the engine which, with optional Overdrive, won over all other cars, regardless of size or weight, in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run! And it's yours for the same kind of money that buys less modern Sixes in other cars.

3. America's finest and most versatile automatic drive!
Fordomatic Drive is the "automatic" which gives you both the get-up-and-go of automatic gears and the smoothness of a fluid torque converter. If you choose Fordomatic, you will find that it makes all your driving easier . . . more relaxing.

4. Automatic gas savings!
Ford's Automatic Power Pilot (on Six and V-8) meters just the right amount of gas, times ignition precisely, burns fuel evenly and completely. You get full high-compression performance from every drop of gas—regular or premium.

5. America's newest and finest power steering!
Ford's Master-Guide power steering gives you new ease, stability and safety in guiding your car on smooth roads or rough. Your car gains in sure-footed roadability and you expend less effort in driving—and parking.

6. Largest choice of models in the low-price field!

Ford alone gives you a choice of 18 different models . . . a Six or V-8 . . . Fordomatic, Conventional or Overdrive . . . the widest variety of body, color and upholstery combinations. You can practically "design" your own Ford!

7. A body that's the style-setter!

Only Ford in its field gives you the advantages of a hull-tight Crestmark Body . . . the trend-maker in design and beauty. Ford's body is the largest and Ford's trunk, the largest. You enjoy more usable space.

8. New driving conveniences!

Ford's first in its field with such "Worth More" features as easier-acting, suspended pedals that eliminate floor holes . . . foam rubber cushions on front and rear seats in all models . . . and convenient Center-Fill Fueling.

9. An automatically controlled ride!

When you Test Drive this Ford, notice how the wide front tread (widest in the low-price field) takes tilt out of turns . . . gives you a more level ride. With new "balanced suspension," new spring and shock absorber action and new rubber compression bumpers, road shock in the front end alone is reduced up to 80%.

10. It's worth more when you sell it!

An impartial survey of used car prices proved that Fords return a greater proportion of their original cost than any other cars in America. It's another fact to add to Ford's reputation as the "Worth More" car.

Big Churches Return To Old Tithe System

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — The big church denominations are taking an economic lesson from the little ones.

It involves the art of passing the collection plate—at which some of the smallest denominations have proved themselves far superior.

A movement has mushroomed recently among many major church bodies to try to follow the example, at least partially, of their bustling little brothers.

Tax Laws Help

The key to the new programs is an old idea — the tithe.

"Tithing is a great new rediscovery of this generation of Christians," said Rev. T. K. Thompson, head of the stewardship-benevolence department of the National Council of Churches. "Virtually all the major denominations have started vigorous tithing programs."

He said federal income tax laws are partially responsible.

The Old Testament injunction that a tenth of what each man earns should be set aside as "holy unto the Lord" has received little attention in most big religious bodies—Catholic, Jewish or Protestant—since the turn of the century.

But many smaller bodies have continued to stress it. The result is the annual per capita contributions by their members far exceeds that of the bigger churches.

Free Methodists First

Pace-setters are the Free Methodists, averaging $194.79 per member a year; Seventh Day Adventists, $158 per member; Wesleyan Methodist, $142.31; Brethren in Christ, $124.31; Church of the Nazarene, $111.76.

Compare those figures with per capita giving in churches where the tithe has been out of fashion: Protestant bodies — $34.32 per member a year.

Roman Catholic — officially estimated at $35 a year.

Jewish—about $38 per person counting four persons per family, only the heads of families being actual members of congregations.

Eying this situation, 14 major Protestant denominations within the last few years have launched campaigns to revive the habit of tithing. Another one, the Methodists, largest Protestant church, plan to do so next year.

Among early boosters of the return to tithing among big churches were the Southern Baptists and the Presbyterians of the U. S. Southern. The Mormon church has a long-standing tithing program, but per capita giving records are unavailable.

Catholics Like Idea

Neither Catholic nor Jewish bodies have initiated any special tithing programs by that name, but spokesmen for both said the tithing idea was basic to programs to increase giving.

"Catholic publications now and then have been carrying editorials to strengthen the ideal of tithing," said Monsignor Thomas J. McCarthy, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

In Judaism, the word "tithe" isn't generally used in modern congregational parlance, since it specifically applies only to the law governing the Jewish temple of ancient times.

"But the whole spirit of giving more has pervaded the Jewish community in the present day," said Rabbi Joel S. Geffen, director of field activities and community services of the Rabbinical Assembly of America.

The modern income tax, which brings a man face-to-face with his annual church contributions—usually embarrassingly small—doubtless had something to do with the trend, Thompson said, adding: "A person cannot make out his income tax form every year without facing the question of proportionate giving. The tithe is a good practical program for meeting a perennial problem."

British Colony Women On Suffrage March

SINGAPORE (AP)—The suffragettes are on the march in this British colony—demanding reformation of existing marriage and divorce laws. A committee of Singapore Council of Women, has sent a petition to the Governor, asking application of British marriage and divorce laws to all races here.

The petition pointed out the "injustices" to which women of China, Malay and Indian race now have to submit by marrying according to custom. Marriages according to custom, performed at temples and mosques, are not registered officially. Men who marry in this manner can cast off their wives and children without giving them support and the women have no grounds on which to claim alimony.

It is customary for Chinese and Malays to have more than one wife if they are non-Christians.

Progress Made On Water Job

Progress in rehabilitating Manistique's water supply system includes installation of one section of water main and completion of more than half of excavation work at Intake Dam, it is reported by Percy Smith, resident engineer of the Francis Engineering Company, Saginaw.

The Proksh Construction Company, Iron River, has both projects. Engineering work was done by the Francis firm.

The water main, an eight-inch section, has been laid on Intake Road from the Wyman Nursery gate to Alger Ave. It will serve to supply water under pressure to the Riverside addition but also through existing lines will connect at Deer St., with a present eight-inch line serving the rest of the westside.

Sheet Piling Necessary
Excavation at the dam includes moving soil to provide sites for both a reservoir and a new pumping station. Excavation for the reservoir site has been completed but digging to an additional depth of four feet will be required for the pumping station location.

Because of seepage it has been necessary to drive sheet piling around the station site in order to complete excavation, Smith said.

Much of the material for the project has already been received, including five carloads of mains and fittings for the distribution system, two cars of cement and two cars of sand and gravel. Still to be received are a car of pipe for the distribution project, a car of pipe for the pumping station, and a substantial quantity of cement, "one and gravel."

Smith said that pouring of footings for the pumping station and reservoir would probably start this week. Seal coating of the reservoir base will follow.

New Main Crosses River

A 14-inch pressure main will carry water from the reservoir to the nursery gate where the eight-inch line to Alger Ave. will intersect it. From this junction a 12-inch line will continue paralleling the present gravity main to a site opposite the papermill flume gates. Here a 10-inch line will cross the flume to serve the eastside of the city. The 12-inch line also will junction at this point with an old eight-inch line running to Deer St., where it intersects with an existing eight-inch line serving both east and west sections of the community.

Under the rehabilitated distribution system, the eastside will have two main service facilities instead of the present one, and much of the west area of the community will be served by two feeder mains.

The revised system will provide a more secure supply of water to the entire community, it is pointed out by Orson Livermore, acting city manager.

Ask Golfers To Work Tuesday

Men of the Indian Lake Country Club are requested to report at the club building at 6 p. m. Tuesday for an important "work bee," it is announced by R. G. Hentschell, president.

Included in the work program will be final landscaping of the club building grounds, cleaning of the old caddy house, transfer of golfing equipment to the caddy house, and cleaning work in the club building locker room.

The old caddy house, previously located across the golf course from the club building, was moved to its present location near No. 1 tee before the 1953 season opened.

After the building is cleaned, all golfing equipment, including carts, golf bags and clubs, will be moved to the caddy building from the club building locker room. Racks for storage of golf bags also will be moved.

Hentschell said that the club eventually proposed to install lockers in the locker room. "It is important that as many members as possible report for work Tuesday evening," he said. "We want to get this job done as soon as possible, and if enough workers come out we can finish that project Tuesday night."

MHS Praised In Recent Report

High praise for Manistique high school is contained in the report of the accrediting committee of the bureau of school services, University of Michigan, following a recent inspection of the school.

The high school was again accredited by the university following a submission of the report, which follows:

"An efficiently administered school by both superintendent and principal, good organization of classes as characterized by the program of studies, healthy pupil-pupil, pupil-teacher, and teacher-administration relationships, an awareness that definite assignments are to be made in classes, follow-up work on the part of teachers in checking assignments and emphasis upon carefulness of workmanship and pride of accomplishment, all characterize the good general tone observed in the Manistique high school. In a school of high caliber such as Manistique high, most observations are automatically commendations."

Detroit And Cleveland In Four For Four Swap

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today made a four-for-four player swap with the Detroit Tigers, giving up shortstop Ray Boone and three pitchers for pitchers Art Houtteman and Bill Wight, catcher Joe Ginsberg and second baseman Owen Friend.

The three pitchers the Indians sent to the last-place Tigers in what the Tribe's front office called "a straight player trade" were veteran Steve Gromek, rookie southpaw Al Aber and Dick Weik, a righthander off military leave who has not pitched this season because of a sore arm.

Houtteman, 26-year-old, righthander, has a 2-6 record this year and a lifetime mark of 53-63. Southpaw Wight, who is 31, is 0-3 this year and has a career record of 51-71.

Boone Batting .241

Boone, with Cleveland since 1948, currently was hitting .241 but had been benched for George Strickland.

The deal, on the final day of the player-trade deadline, followed Cleveland's loss of four straight games here to the league-leading New York Yankees.

General Manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland sized up the trade this way:

"In Houtteman we get a young pitcher the same age as Aber who has already demonstrated his ability to win in the majors. x x x I believe the exchange of Gromek for Wight is a standoff. Both are about the same age and have about the same sort of major league record.

Young Players

"Boone could prove to be a fine ball player at Detroit, and we certainly hope that he does. However, George Strickland is now established as our regular shortstop, and the team has an excellent record for those games which he has played since we purchased him last August from Pittsburgh. "Ginsberg and Friend are young players (26 years old) and can develop to the point where they may help us in the future at positions that may need strengthening. I made this deal with but one thought in mind — to help strengthen our club and for no other reason."

Except for Bob Feller and Jim Hegan, Gromek, a 33-year-old righthander, had been with the Indians longer than anyone on the squad. He came to Cleveland in 1941. This year he had pitched only 11 innings and had a 1-1 record. His career total was 77-66, and, with his 14-8 record against the Yankees, was the only Tribe hurler to pitch in the blue ink against the world champs.

Key man in the deal for the Indians was Houtteman who won 19 games for the Tigers in 1950 then missed the 1951 season when he was in the Army. In 1952, when his child was killed in an automobile accident during the spring, he won only eight.

Aber, a promising young Cleveland pitcher who will be 26 next month, has pitched only six innings for Cleveland this year and has a 1-1 record.

Welters Clash In Ring Natural

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two important welterweight boxing questions will be answered here tonight.

1. Is Gil Turner burned out?
2. Is Johnny Saxton as good as his record?

Turner, the flurry-punching Philadelphiaan, and Saxton, unbeaten New Yorker, clash in a 10-rounder at Connie Mack Stadium. You'll have to be there to see it since, in line with Promoter Herman Taylor's firm policy there will be no radio broadcast or telecast of the battle.

Lot At Stake

The two 22-year-old fighters have a lot at stake in this fight. The winner appears to be headed for a big money match with southpaw Chuck Davey. The survivor should wind up in the same ring with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan. The loser could well go back to the coffee and cakes league.

It's an unusual situation when two youngsters like Turner and Saxton reach the boxing crossroads at such a young fighting age. But that's what has happened.

Turner started off like a whirlwind. He won 28 in a row and earned a crack at the title. The smart champion, Gavilan, belted the Philadelphiaan out in the 11th round. Since then Gil has won eight of 10 fights, losing to Bobby Dykes and Joey Giardello. But he hasn't been the same fighter since Gavilan beat him.

How about Saxton? Johnny has won 39 fights with only a draw to mar his perfect record. He picked himself off the floor to eard the draw with Wallace (Bud) Smith last March at Miami Beach. This is Saxton's first crack at the so-called "big money." Winner over Joe Miceli, Freddy Dawson and Danny Womber, the New York Negro needs to beat Turner to keep moving up. This is Johnny's chance to show his class.

Saxton, who expects to weigh in at 146 give or take a pound, is a 7 to 5 favorite over Turner, who plans to carry 153 pounds, the heaviest he has ever been for any bout.

Ishpeming Softball Team Wins Twin Bill

The Ishpeming CCI softball team trimmed Harnischfeger, 4 to 0, and the Merchants, 4 to 2, in a weekend doubleheader at Memorial Field.

In the first game, the Ishpeming team shut out the Harnies behind the effective pitching Waino Mantyla. Kamme pitched for Harnischfeger.

The second game, with the Merchants providing the opposition, went into extra innings. Tied up at 2-2 in the eighth, Ishpeming put together three hits and an error to score two runs.

Walkiur pitched for Ishpeming and Dufresne hurled for the Merchants.

Hogan Just Starts To Win Fame At 40

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)—Ben Hogan's fourth victory in the United States Open golf championship has revived the controversy whether Ben or Bobby Jones is the best golfer America ever has produced.

Gene Sarazen, who probably is in the best position to judge, unhesitatingly picks Hogan. Gene was one of the game's kingpins when Bobby was at his peak and he's still playing good golf against Ben and the new crop of tournament stars.

Retired At 28

Bobby Cruickshank, who lost to Jones in the 1923 open championship playoff—the first of the four Bob won—stood in the Oakmont locker room the other day, nodded in Hogan's direction and said: "This young man is the greatest."

He didn't even mention Jones, going back to some of the great Scottish players for comparisons. But it would be interesting to know what Jones would have done if he had continued to play tournament golf until he was 40. Bob won his first open championship when he was 21. He retired at 28, sated

Cards Defeat Trenary, 5-4

The Manistique Cardinals maintained their winning pace in the Bay de Noc League Sunday, defeating Trenary, 5 to 4. The victory was particularly sweet for the Cardinals because it was the dedication game for the new diamond and because they defeated an old rival, George Brown.

Don Carlson, Manistique pitcher, scored the winning run in the eighth. He doubled, advanced to third on a fielder's choice and came home on a single by Dick Makinen.

The game was played before a large crowd. The Elks Club conducted a Flag Day ceremony in connection with the dedication and presented a flag to the baseball association.

COOKS WINS, 19 TO 2

Three home runs and a double by Olson, Cooks pitcher, featured the 19 to 2 victory of the Cooks team over Fayette Sunday in a Bay de Noc League game at Fayette.

GARDEN BEATS RAPID RIVER

Garden shut out Rapid River, 13 to 0, in the Bay de Noc League Sunday at Rapid River, with Jack Morin pitching a two-hitter. Morin also fanned 13.

Morin and Lester also got three hits in six times at bat for Garden. Batteries were Morin and Ritter for Garden, Miller and Anderson, Rapid River.

Ranguette Hurls No-Hit Game For Delta Hardware

Bill Ranguette pitched a no-hit, no-run game for the Delta Hardware Little Bigger League team Saturday, defeating the Insurance Association, 8 to 0. Ranguette also got four hits for his team.

Batteries were Ranguette and Brown for Delta Hardware, Valentine and Allen for the Insurance Association.

In other Little Bigger League games, the Paper Company defeated Kiwanis, 6 to 5, in 12 innings and Elks defeated AFL, 4 to 4. Rodman pitched for Paper Company and McGinn and Merrier worked for the Insurance Association.

Bob Hansen pitched the victory for Elks and Don Trotter was the losing pitcher.

Tuesday night the Elks team will practice at 7 at City diamond.

Snead Cracks Up

One sure thing is that Hogan had to beat more good golfers to win his titles than Jones ever did. In two previous opens at Oakmont only one player ever had broken 300 for 72 holes. When Tommy Armour and Harry Cooper shot 301's in 1927, Jones shot 309.

Last week Hogan fired rounds of 67-72-73-71—283, against a par of 72, and there were exactly 20 players with 299's or better.

Snead, cracking on the toughened-up last nine when he knew Hogan was in front of him with scores that could be beaten only by perfect golf, finished with 289. Lloyd Mangrum had 292 for third place. Three others had 294's. They were George Fazio, Jimmy Demaret and Pete Cooper.

Squeeze Play Wins For Cubs Over Menominee

The Escanaba Cubs squeezed home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning yesterday to upset Menominee, 5 to 4, in a Waubesa League baseball game at the City diamond. Wednesday night the Cubs will play at Gladstone in a league game.

John Berrigan was the hero of the Cubs' victory yesterday. He pitched a masterful game for the Escanaba team, got the first hit of the game in the third, scored one run in the seventh and slid home on the squeeze play to win the game in the ninth.

With one away in the ninth, Berrigan got on base on an error and moved to second on a wild pitch. Berrigan advanced to third on Dubord's single. Menominee pulled the infield in for a play at the plate but Berrigan slid under the throw when Menominee fielded O'Donnell's bunt.

Gary Paler will pitch for the Cubs Wednesday at Gladstone.

Two Young Drivers Burn To Death In Reading, Pa., Smashup

READING, Pa. (AP)—As four thousand spectators watched in horror, two youthful racing drivers burned to death in the fiery wreckage of their stock cars at the Reading Fairgrounds Sunday.

Ten cars collided. The smashup also sent David Haldeman of Bechtelsville, Pa., to Community General Hospital with a possible fractured skull and other injuries.

Killed were George Lloyd, 27, and Robert Rolland, 26, both of Reading.

The accident occurred on the fourth lap of the 50-lap feature of the second annual spring stock car championships.

Lloyd and Rolland were brothers-in-law. They were piloting rival cars in a race sponsored by the All-Star Stock Racing Club.

Casey About Ready To Predict Pennant For Streaking Yanks

SPT—CASEY ABOUT CLEVELAND (AP)—Even Casey Stengel, a man who can see the dark side of things as well as any manager, was just about ready today to predict a pennant for his streaking New York Yankees.

The New Yorkers put 10½ games between themselves and second place Cleveland Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader with the Indians and running their victory streak to 18, just one short of the league record.

Stengel, slumping beside his locker after the game, remarked that probably "took us over the hump."

But he hastily added his phrase did not mean he thought the flag was already won. "You aren't going to make me say that, but I have to admit this is a pretty good ball team. I can't see it losing a lot of games in a row."

Discussing what had taken the Yankees on their streak, Stengel said the club was fast, fielded well and had good pitching and hitting—just about everything.

More to the point, he pointed out that when Mickey Mantle's hitting got to be just a little less than torrid, Yogi Berra started connecting.

Berra, the squat but mighty catcher, hammered in all the runs the Yankees needed Sunday to win, 6-2 and 3-0.

Before the biggest baseball crowd in two years—74,708 — he clouted a three-run homer in the first game and a two-run triple in the second.

Almost 20,000 of the spectators came from outside of Cleveland, on 19 special trains, 40 chartered buses and 47 private airplanes. Six of the trains were from Buffalo.

Stengel observed that "a lot of folks don't like us but they'd like to see us break that victory record."

About the only optimists in Cleveland after the games were Manager Al Lopez and General Manager Hank Greenberg. Lopez: "Over 100 games are left and we're certainly not finished." Greenberg: "Well, it's not over yet. We're ten games behind in the lost column and we're not giving up. There's a long way to go."

National League Will Reorganize Tuesday Evening

A meeting of managers will be held Tuesday night at 7 at Memorial Field to organize the National League in the Escanaba Softball Association.

Three teams have already entered and at least one more, preferably three more, is desired to complete the league.

Paul Vardigan, associated official, said this morning that this will be the final date for any team to enter the association this year.

Heiress To Millions, Miss Roosevelt Weds Son Of Italian Barber

By EUGENE LEVIN
NEW YORK (AP)—For a granddaughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the pianist son of an immigrant Italian barber it was the biggest day of their lives.

It was the day that they—Sara Delano Roosevelt and Anthony Di Bonaventura—became man and wife.

But for the humble East Side Manhattan neighborhood their marriage Friday had the glitter, and the promise, and the hope of which dreams are made.

Miss Roosevelt, 21, heiress to a fifty million dollar fortune of her stepfather, John Hay Whitney, came from the fabled estate world of Long Island to the simple realm of East 12th Street.

Big Crowd Cheers
There, in the neighborhood where the 23-year-old bridegroom had grown up while his father ran his three-chair barbershop, she entered the Roman Catholic Church of Mary Help of Christians.

With her were Whitney, who has adopted her, and her mother, the former Betsy Cushing. Mrs. Whitney was divorced from the bride's father, James Roosevelt, a son of the late President. Neither Roosevelt, who is in California, nor Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President's widow and Miss Roosevelt's grandmother, were present. Mrs. Roosevelt is out of the country.

Moments before the arrival of the couple and their families there had been the influx of the guests—from the bride's world downtown, and from the music world where this romance grew.

Roars of jubilation echoed in the canyon-like streets, with some 2,000 persons wistfully watching

Timber Loss Heavy

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Department said Monday night's tornado caused heavy damage to standing timber and wild life in the Lapeer state game area.

The department said tentatively that 10,000 pine, oak and aspen trees were blown down, representing the loss of 250,000 board feet of merchantable lumber.

from tenement windows, fire escapes and roof tops. Torn paper fluttered to the pavement.

And inside the small, weathered church the two, who had met about a year ago while they were students in the Philadelphia area, were united in a double ring ceremony.

Gets Lusty Kiss

Di Bonaventura claimed his traditional kiss with such vigor that the bride's handkerchief was needed to wipe him clean of lipstick.

It was a quiet ceremony with only about 30 guests admitted to the church. The bride, in a white lace dress, had her sister, Kate Roosevelt, as maid of honor. The bridegroom, in a cutaway coat and striped trousers, had a friend, Louis Zaninelli, as his best man.

Their families beamed as the couple said their vows before the altar rail, rather than at the altar since the bride is not a Catholic. However, she and Di Bonaventura are pledged to bring up any children as Catholics.

Fifteen minutes later the ceremony was over. The couple paused for pictures outside the church. The crowds surged against police lines and cheered.

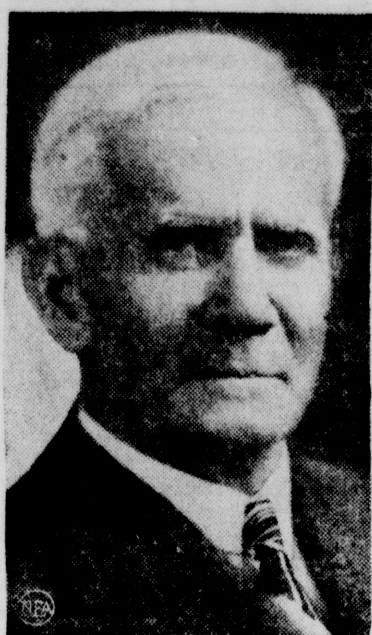

Then the newlyweds entered a black limousine to ride uptown to the Whitney town house for a reception before going on a honeymoon, somewhere in Maine.

Scotch Find Drink Better Than Scotch

NEW YORK (AP)—The Scots have come up with a drink they think is even better than their famous Scotch whisky, reports British Information Services. It's called "Atholl brose," known in the highlands for centuries, but now being produced commercially.

It's a combination of heather honey, oatmeal and whisky (some recipes include cream). It was mentioned in Robert Louis Stevenson's classic "Kidnapped," and dates back as far as the reign of James III.

America's first novel, "Power of Sympathy," by Susannah H. Rowson, appeared in 1789.

DEAN OF THE HOUSE — Rep. Robert Crosser, Democrat from Ohio, is the new dean of the House of Representatives. A former professor of law at Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, O., Rep. Crosser has served 19 terms in the House.

More Steps On Road To Color Television

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Preparatory to the date when such items may become commonplace, RCA has set up a pilot production plant here for the manufacture of color-television tubes. It has a capacity of 2,000 tubes a month.

The company explained the experiment as serving as a prototype for other units in the establishment of factory facilities for large-scale high-speed facilities for whenever that time comes.

Fliers' Lifejackets Will Carry Beacon In Matchbox Parcel

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—A radio-beacon device, smaller than two matchboxes, will be manufactured in this country for fliers to wear on their lifejackets.

The miniature transmitter-receiver includes batteries, microphone-loudspeaker and aerial that extends to 31 inches. It is designed to guide rescuing planes to a survivor drifting in the sea and let him communicate with them when they come close enough.

U. S. rights to manufacture the 3½-pound device, called "Sarah," have been acquired by Simmonds Aerosecures, Inc., Tarrytown, N. Y. from Ultra Electric Ltd., London. The first sales have been made to Grumman Aircraft, Bethpage, N. Y.

Grumman plans to use the equipment in its own flight testing program. Sarah also has been demonstrated to the Air Force and the Army Field Forces, and the Navy has made tests at its Patuxent, Md., Air Center.

A flier adrift at sea, wearing a Mae West life-jacket to which Sarah is attached, merely pulls a wire ring. Thereupon a cover flies off, the yellow steel tape aerial snaps open and the transmitter starts sending messages for as much as 65 miles, and up to 60,000 feet. The signals may continue for 19 hours.

In the searching airplane, a three-inch television screen receives the Sarah signals as green pips or spikes pointing out the direction the plane must fly.

When the search plane passes over the downed pilot, Sarah's signals disappear from the screen. The man at sea then can speak to the airplane pilot through his tiny microphone, and can use it as a loudspeaker to hear the pilot.

Nebraska Town Is Not For Politicians

BREWSTER, Neb. (AP)—It was an oversight, an official explained, but this incorporated village of 69 persons forgot to hold its 1953 city election recently.

It made little difference, a spokesman for the city fathers said. There were no contests for offices and the old members of the village board will carry on for another year.

Saved about $25 in election expense, too, the spokesman said.

Marshal Tito's Dog Is Mated With Wolf

BELGRADE (AP)—"Tiger," Marshal Josip Broz Tito's dog and constant companion since the World War II years, died recently. But "Tiger," a husky German police dog, made certain before death that his master's protection would remain in family hands.

He was mated to a full blooded wolf last year. She produce two pups with "Tiger" as the sire.
